

Instructions

Upon starting up the program, the user will be asked whether he would like to load up some pre-made objects to the system (3 suppliers, each with a different agreement of some kind and an order with different products). To load up the system with said object, the user needs to type in the letter 'y' and press the enter key and the system will be loaded up, and 'n' otherwise.

After that the user will be prompted with a menu where he would be offered to execute dozens of actions on the system (adding\removing\updating\reviewing system data) and may exit anytime.
